Describe How the Program Supports Family Connections

Whenever a youth has a family members identified as part of their renunciation BGH will engage family members in the treatment planning process. This includes regular family therapy, phone calls and visitation while a youth is participating in our program. The BGH clinical team will work with the families and Department of Community Based State social workers to assist families in overcoming any issues that may be identified as barriers that may interfere with treatment progress. BGH also works with family members by providing transportation to the home when the youth has an approved pass to leave facility. Clinical staff utilize home contact opportunities as a way to identify what is working in the therapeutic process. Clinical staff members work with families to develop aftercare plans and to secure community resources prior to reunification. BGH recognizes the importance of supporting a youth and family during a transition.

Special Interventions Available Internally

Boys and Girls Haven therapist are trained in a variety of evidenced based modalities and utilizes a trauma informed approach to provide individualized therapeutic interventions to meet the needs of our youth. Some of these interventions include Seven Challenges substance abuse services, expressive therapies, and JSO counseling. BGH also has an Independence Readiness Specialist that offers services for youth to develop life skills and prepare them for a career. When appropriate youth can receive specialized case management while gaining work experience.
