Describe How the Program Supports Family Connections

Uspiritus involves families in the treatment planning process and offers family therapy sessions on a flexible schedule that includes nights and weekends. Family therapy is offered a minimum of 1x per week, when indicated in the treatment plan. Families who are having financial difficulties or who travel a great distance can receive gas card vouchers to promote their participation in family therapy sessions. Parents are invited to treatment planning and educational meetings and provide regular input to the client's treatment plan. Uspiritus provides weekly visitation three days a week. Families are involved in any significant incidents that occur with their child through a notification and debriefing process. Additionally, the client, therapist, and staff maintain regular contact with the family. Home visits occur regularly, based on need and permanency plan. Each child at Uspiritus is actively working on a life book that promotes and/or supports their connections to their families.
